

Several years of experience working in and with people from different countries and cultural backgrounds have made Mrs. Reinhard an expert in understanding cultural differences and communication requirements. For more than five years she has been teaching German and English for business and technical use both in Germany and India. She is certified by the Goethe institute in training methodologies for German as a foreign language and teaches using modern and international standards (Common European Framework of Reference for Languages, CEFR).

Her academic background in both business administration paired with logistics as well as computer science give her the means to understand what skills industries and processes need their employees to bring with them to succeed in an international and highly professional work environment.

Training Experience and Certification

Goethe Certificate: DaF Methodik und Didaktik (German as a Foreign Language Methods and Didactics)

English and German (A1 – C2), Business and Technical Language, Soft Skills including Self-Management and Business Communication, Culture and Cultural Awareness